During May we are challenging ourselves to increase our kindness ratio. Can you show kindness everyday? Can you think of ways to show kindness at home and in your neighborhood?

Even during this time of quarantine, we can all find ways to be kind. Check our list of suggestions and maybe add some of your own ideas. -- Use this calendar to map out a plan for the month--or to record your kind deeds as you complete them.

This is not a contest! There will be no prizes other than the joy of knowing that we have helped make the world a little better or someone's day a little brighter. However, we will be checking in with each other during our Zoom gatherings. I will want to know what you are doing to show kindness this month!
